studio+o understands that people are a company's most valuable resource. Our approach to projects begins with a thorough understanding of how people work together to achieve company missions and goals. Our design philosophy is to balance economics, function, and aesthetics in the best solution for each design challenge. We believe a truly effective design solution addresses prescribed budget and time constraints, as well as long term issues of design integrity and maintenance. We manage our own practice with the same intelligence and concern for people that we bring to our clients' projects.
